Xabi Alonso

He's birth name is Xabier Alonso Olano and he was born on 25 November 1981. He's a footballer who plays for Liverpool F.C. and he's central defensive midfielder. Son of "Periko" Alonso, Alonso Began his career at Real Sociedad and after a brief loan period at SD Eibar, returned to Real Sociedad. The Spaniard moved to Liverpool in august 2004 for $10.5 million.

He won the UEFA Champions League in his first season at the club. Alonso has played for Spain at Euro 2004, Euro 2008 and the 2006 World Cup. He featured mainly as a sub in Spain's winning UEFA Euro 2008 squad.

Alonso received much praise for his role in the team's success and was given the Best Spanish Player award by Spanish sports magazine Don Balòn. Iñaki Sáez , the coach of the Spanish national team, called him up for the spanish selection. Alonso made his international debut in April 2003 in a 4-0 friendly win over Ecuador. Sáez raved over Alonso saying: He has a fantastic range accurate passing and sees football with extraordinary clarity.

Alonso's arrival at Liverpool, along with Luis Garcia from F.C. Barcelona, marked the beginning of a new era at Andfield. Alonso made his pre-miership debut for the Merseysiders against Bolton Wanderers on 29 August 2004. His arrival revived a deflated Liverpool and the game finished 4-2 to the Merseysiders team. Furthermore, Alonso scored from a free kick to bring Liverpool ahead of the opposition -his frist goal for the team.
